

Key Facts

ORSO

Hong Kong is one of the world's top trading hubs and financial services centres. It has a well-established corporate retirement scheme legislation and supervision. This, combined with the Hong Kong system of taxation and the network of Double Taxation Agreements, makes Hong Kong an ideal location for the establishment and administration of Group retirement schemes.

ORSO - Hong Kong Occupational Retirement Scheme

The Occupational Retirement Schemes Ordinance ("ORSO") (Cap 426) came into force in 1993 to register and regulate the corporate retirement schemes. To help the ageing workforce save for their retirement, the Mandatory Provident Fund Schemes Ordinance ("MPFSO") was enacted in 1995 and the MPF System was launched in December 2000. Almost all employers and employees working in Hong Kong must make certain mandatory contributions to the MPF Schemes. (Expatriate employees working in Hong Kong for more than 13 months and who are not members of an overseas retirement scheme must also make MPF contributions.) The ORSO retirement schemes continue to exist after the introduction of the MPF System and the Hong Kong government continues to encourage employers and employees to voluntarily make further contributions over and above the minimum requirements of the compulsory MPF System. The Mandatory Provident Fund Schemes Authority ("MPFA") is a statutory body established in September 1998 under the MPFSO to regulate and supervise the operations of MPF schemes and ORSO schemes.

Trident Trust Company (HK) Ltd is registered as a trust company under Part VIII of the Hong Kong Trustee Ordinance to provide professional trustee services and Trident Trust has had a business presence in Hong Kong since 1992. Trident Trust can establish a Trust with a resident professional Hong Kong Trustee and provide Trust administration services to an ORSO corporate retirement trust, a Family Trust or in support of a Private Trust Company. We can also provide Corporate and Secretarial Services to Hong Kong companies.

Key Requirements Occupational

In most cases, there must be an employment link between the company (as contributor) and the members (as beneficiaries). Members can be employees or directors of the Employer. Members do not have to be resident in Hong Kong.

Retirement

Members can be paid benefits in accordance with the governing rules of the retirement scheme on retirement (as defined in the Inland Revenue Ordinance), incapacity or on termination of employment. In case of the Member's death, the benefit will be paid to his beneficiaries in accordance with the governing rules.

Scheme/Plan

This is a formal arrangement governed by trust deed, registered or exempted with the MPFA (if required) and administered by an independent trustee.

Key Facts

ORSO

Basic Steps and Structure of an ORSO Retirement Scheme Governed by Trust

- A Hong Kong company (or a Hong Kong branch of a foreign company) can create an ORSO retirement scheme.
- As the ORSO retirement schemes are voluntary plans, there is flexibility in how the terms of the Trust Deed and Rules are drafted.
- An employer who operates, contributes to or otherwise participates in a retirement scheme in Hong Kong must make an application for registration or exemption with the regulator of the retirement scheme, the MPFA, within 3 months. There are three options:
 - ORSO Registered/exempted scheme with “MPF exemption” (Outside the scope of this document.)
 - ORSO Registered scheme (This type has several requirements including an Annual Audit and Investment Restrictions.)
 - ORSO Exempted scheme (This type is exempted from the Annual Audit and Investment Restrictions and is available for schemes that have less than 10% or less than 50 members (whichever is lower) who are Hong Kong permanent ID card holders.) In other words, these “exempted” schemes are possible where almost all the members are resident outside Hong Kong.
- The company can make “employer contributions” to the ORSO retirement scheme. These are usually monthly cash contributions but can also be transfer of assets in specie. There are no legal limits to the amounts that may be contributed. Eligible employees and directors of the company can be added as members (beneficiaries). Members may also make voluntary employee contributions if the Trust Deed and Rules allow for it.
- Extension to other Group Companies. Other companies that are part of the same group under Section 67 of ORSO may apply to become “Participating Employers”. This extends the potential membership to all the eligible employees and directors of these group companies.

- An ORSO Exempted retirement scheme is exempted from the Investment Restrictions. Subject to the Trustee agreeing to hold the asset, the Exempted ORSO retirement scheme may invest in private company shares, real estate and a wide range of investments.
- Distributions to members are made in the form of lump sum and/or regular payments or transfer to other pension plans or annuity contracts.

Reasons for Creating an Exempted ORSO Scheme in Hong Kong

- Hong Kong is well known as one of the world’s top finance centres. The ORSO and MPF retirement schemes are subject to the supervision by a regulator and each scheme/trust has to go through a rigorous application procedure that can take several weeks. This registration process makes the retirement scheme easier to be verified and accepted by financial institutions and authorities in other countries.
- Most governments are encouraging their citizens to save for their retirement. Many countries therefore have tax exemptions or tax deferral plans in place for corporate retirement schemes.
- Greater flexibility in drafting the terms of the retirement schemes rules.
- Ability to hold a wide range of investments. This may even include real estate and private company shares. It is therefore possible to use this as a holding entity for a family business (subject to prior approval by the Trustee).
- Incentivise and retain staff and encourage a long-term approach to business.

Key Facts

ORSO

- Extension to other group companies and their employees. This enables the ORSO retirement scheme to be an International Group Pension Plan.
- As a general rule, Hong Kong ORSO and MPF retirement schemes are not subject to Hong Kong taxes.
- Distributions from Hong Kong ORSO and MPF retirement schemes are not taxable in Hong Kong in specified circumstances (e.g. retirement, death, incapacity and termination of service with 10 years of service or more). Employee contributions to ORSO retirement schemes are not tax deductible.
- Many of Hong Kong's 29 comprehensive Double Taxation Agreement (e.g., UK) specify that pension distributions from proper Hong Kong corporate retirement plans "in consideration of past employment" are only taxable in Hong Kong (and therefore not taxable in the UK).
- Employer contributions by Hong Kong employers are tax deductible to a maximum of 15% of the employee's total remuneration.
- For the employee, the amounts allocated to his/her retirement account may be free of Hong Kong tax if the vesting is spread out at least 10% over 10 years.
- Taxation of income in Hong Kong is assessed on a territorial basis: only income arising in or derived from Hong Kong is subject to tax in Hong Kong. There is no capital gains tax and no estate duty levied in Hong Kong.
- Hong Kong is a special administrative region of China. It maintains its well-established legal system based on a mixed system of English model common law and Chinese customary law (in matters of family and land tenure).
- Free market economy, highly dependent on international trade and finance
- Hong Kong has substantially implemented the internationally agreed tax standard set out by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development guidelines and is part of its "white list".
- Hong Kong complies with the Hague Convention in the recognition of trusts.
- Hong Kong Trust law was amended with effect from 1 December 2013 and now offers similar features as its main competitors. The features include enhanced protection for beneficiaries, settlor reserved powers, anti-forced heirship rules and the abolition of the rule against perpetuities. Vesting

Vesting means the action of making a member fully entitled to the funds (or part of it) in his/her retirement sub-account.

For MPF retirement schemes, vesting takes place immediately when the employer makes a mandatory contribution. This is a legal requirement.

In contrast, for ORSO retirement schemes, the Employer company is free to draft the vesting rules in the Plan Rules. Vesting is usually delayed to act as an incentive for staff to stay with the company. In certain countries, e.g., the USA, members are often taxed on the foreign pension contributions at the moment of vesting. It is therefore important to consider this aspect carefully when preparing and administering the pension plan.
